

3,000 SQM OF FLOORING

When the Swedish army goes into action on its various missions, they often bring their own facilities and equipment. DC-Supply delivered the Rola-Trac floor that could be built together, similar to building with Legos.

When the Swedish army goes into action on its various missions, they often bring their own facilities and equipment. A challenge that typically occurs when deploying is the lack of solid ground. The Swedish military had a need for a complete floor system to protect their equipment and personnel. It had to be a mobile and a practical solution that could be set up quickly and easily.

DC-Supply delivered the Rola-Trac floor that could be built together, similar to building with Legos. The Swedish defense force acquired a functional and very robust Rola-Trac floor system. Each floor element measuring approximately 50 x 100 cm and is equipped with a "spring and splice" system. The floor system can simply and easily be put together without tools, and it is very easy to clean.
