

INSULATED RESIDENTIAL CONTAINER

The customer needed extra space for specific tasks and lacked the necessary facilities for their project.

The customer needed a mobile solution that would enable them to bring their own the facilities when they were out on specific tasks.

DC-Supply delivered a specially designed 20ft insulated ISO residential container. The result was a residential and office container, which was a simple and flexible solution to the lack of space for both short and long periods of time.

The container was designed following the customer's specifications regarding lighting, heating, and fans. The container is convenient, easy to move, and can be connected in a series to other containers, if necessary.

The container is also easy to secure against theft either by leasing or purchasing one of DC-Supply's locking systems.
